PART. 2: |

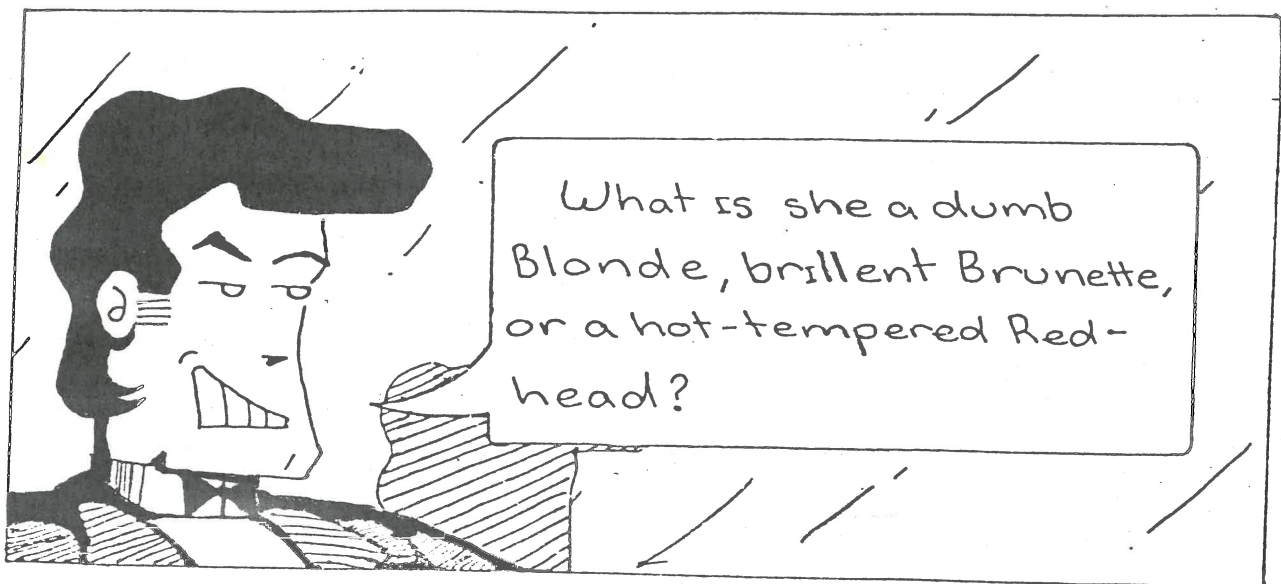

The information, sensor, is that Sensor Xagy's operation is in fact here in Egypt, out in the desert somewhere.

You are to make contact, with your assistant for this assignment, at the bar of the hotel where you are staying.

Ah sensor, remember the staff shortages?

Well we're all out of beautiful female assistants, and ugly female assistants for that matter. So, in keeping up with sexual equality, we met you halfway... his name is Bruce (he needs the money for a small operation), he'll identify you by saying the phrase - "Hello sailor, wanna disarm a nuclear device tonight?"

* TO BE CONTINUED.

— QUGS —

From the QUGS Editor:

It finally occurred to some of our long-term club members that we had quite a few members who had not seen a single "OO?" episode; and very few of us had seen all of them. So we decided to reprint them. Simple, eh? The strip has been appearing since 1984, thanks to our great and glorious artist Aaron Yuile. For those who are interested, the episodes appeared in the following issues:

Episodes 1 and 2 in No 19 (Sep/Oct 84), 3 in No 20 (May 85), 4 in No 24 (Feb 87), 5 in No 25 (May 87), 6 in No 26 (Sep 87) and episode 7 in No 27 (June 88). If any of our members feel inspired by this collection, by all means, have a go yourself!

Timo the Mad Editor, O'week 1991

OO?

Later in the Hotel bar...

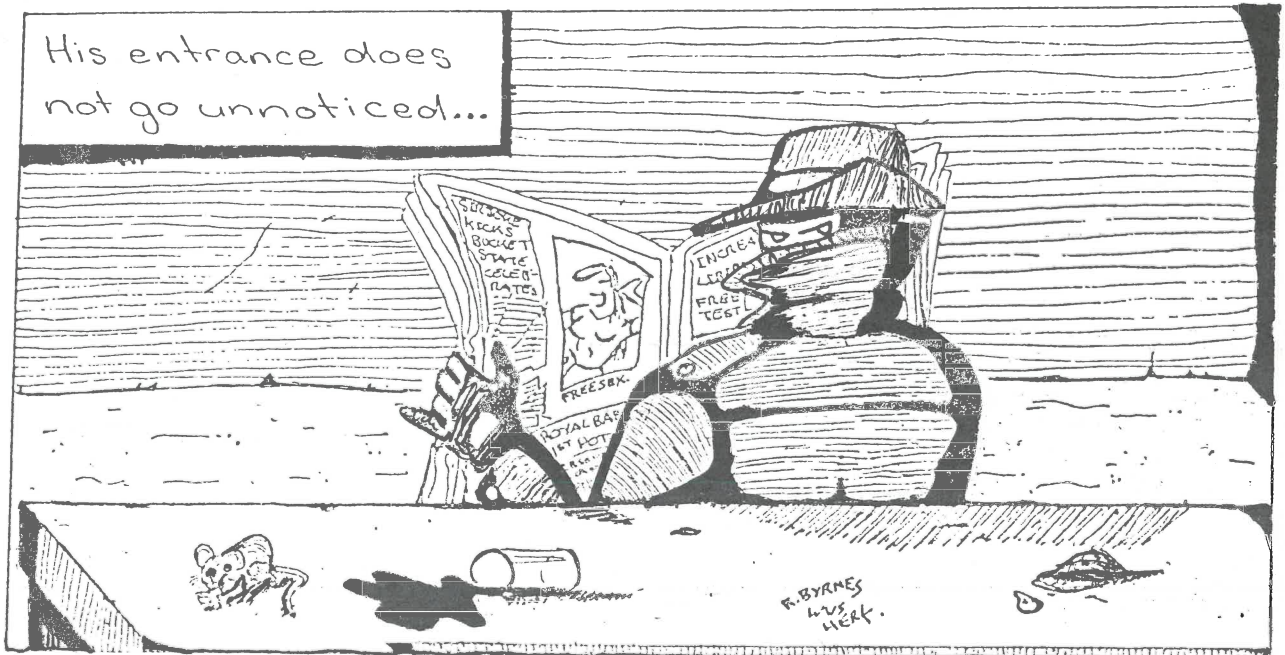

A figure pauses in the doorway

I thought this was supposed to be a five star establishment...

No Spitting on Waiters.

His entrance does not go unnoticed...

* who said I'm not patriotic (The Artist)

Now it's time for this issues

!!! → Mystery Guest ...

This issues "mystery guest" is: The Artist (emphasis on the 'The')

— "Pretty terrific sort of Guy". (quote from an un-

Real Name: For me to know and you to agonize over.

Sex: ♂ (male) - single (take note "people")

Age: 5 (oh dear my pen slipped - old enough!)

Appearance: "better looking than anyone you know" (being a modest, and basically honest person).

Ego: "pretty big" (I'll allow an exaggeration or two).

Course: Nursing (Q.I.T.) - any jerk who thinks male nurses are gay think about this - the males are outnumbered 5:1; whose stupid then, Huh!.

Favourite past time: Skipping lectures, lusting after fellow (female) students, gaming (what else - goes with skipping lectures), getting stoned (not with rocks), conducting surveys into effects of alcohol (hard)

Locals frequented: Campus club bar (paid my membership to that before anything else). Outside 'G' block during lectures.

Mental stability: not very, why else would I draw this this trash ⇒ Don't Panic.

SHIT!! I've run out of room, and there's so much more to tell...

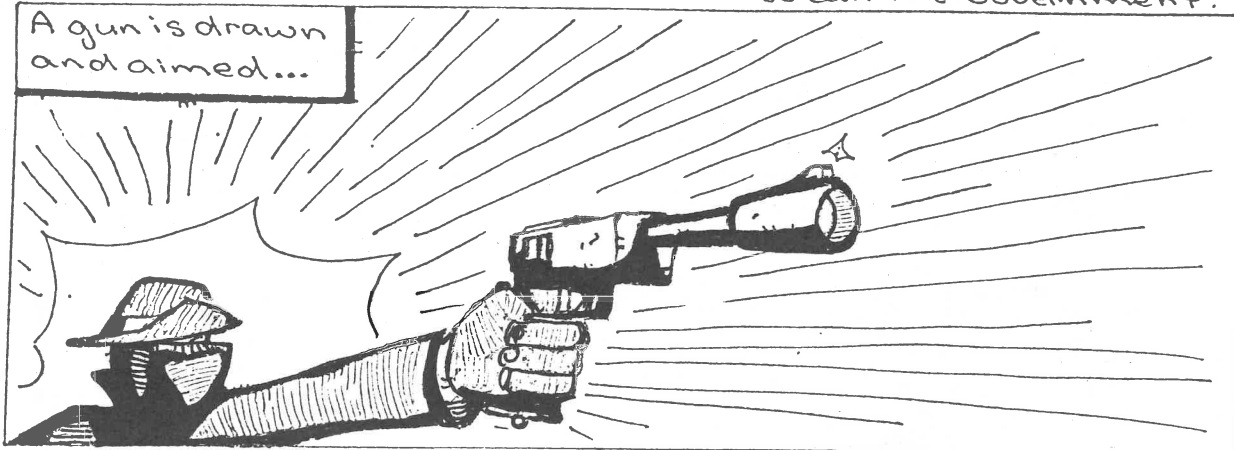

Next Week: The Editor. (be good to me Jack and I'll be good to you — $20 should do).

Gout. Warning:
Reading this comic strip can severely damage your mental Health*

Now we can return to the next exciting frame (wow!).

*So can the Government.

A gun is drawn and aimed...

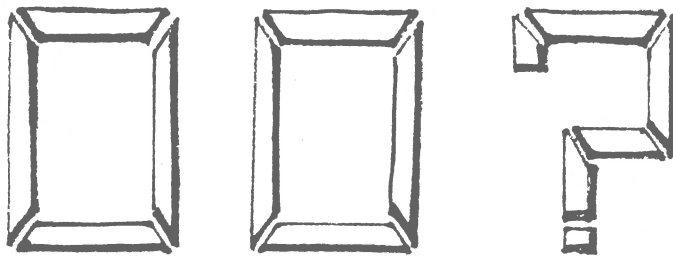

TO BE CONTINUED:

Well in the true tradition of 'Sons+Daughters' I'll leave it at this cliff-hanger. Don't worry after this meaningless interlude in the plot the normal excitement of a "reallife spy-thriller" will return, so will our hero (it's just that I had this deadline to make and no story drawn up...).

"VIZ"
 [ASY '85]

P.S: the 'mystery guest' segment was added as a way to fill up the page so I could meet that deadline, plus I'd run out ideas — being "out to it" doesn't help.

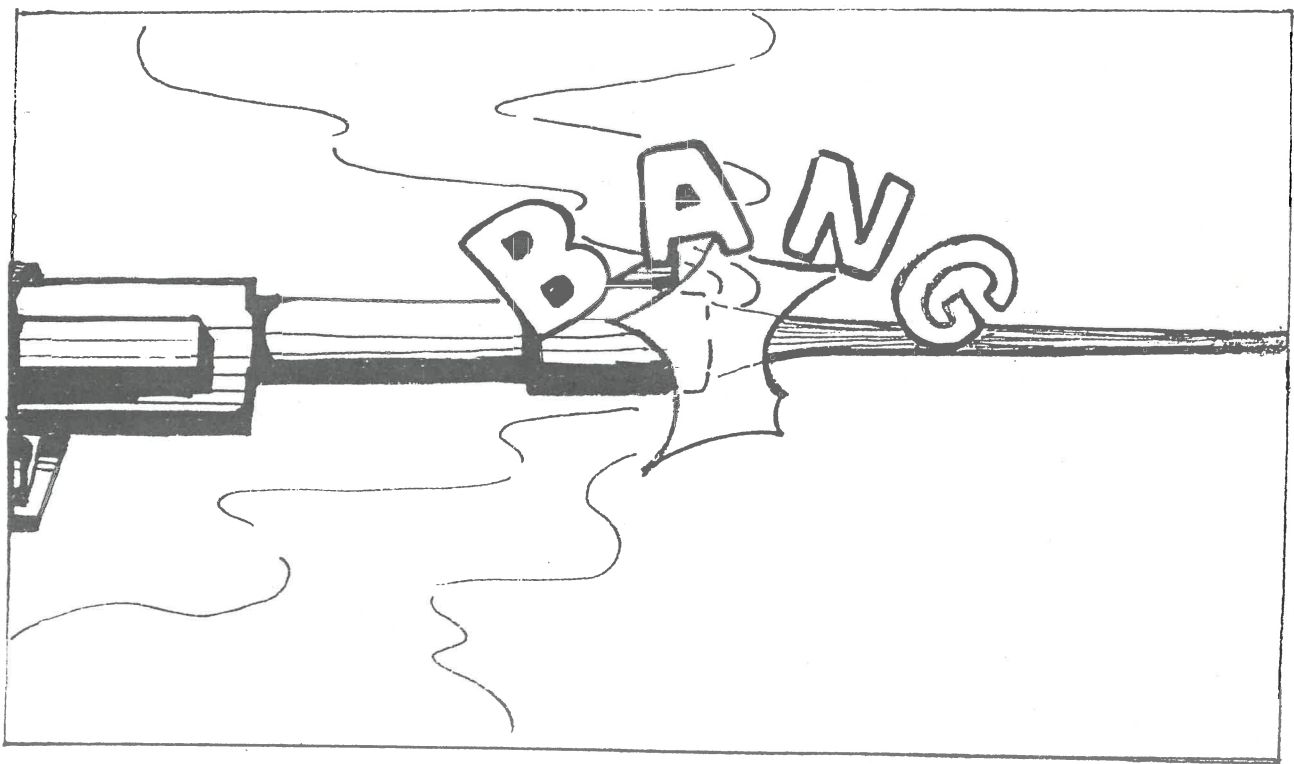

(The candle flickers and it is now 11.54 pm.
 Good night!!)

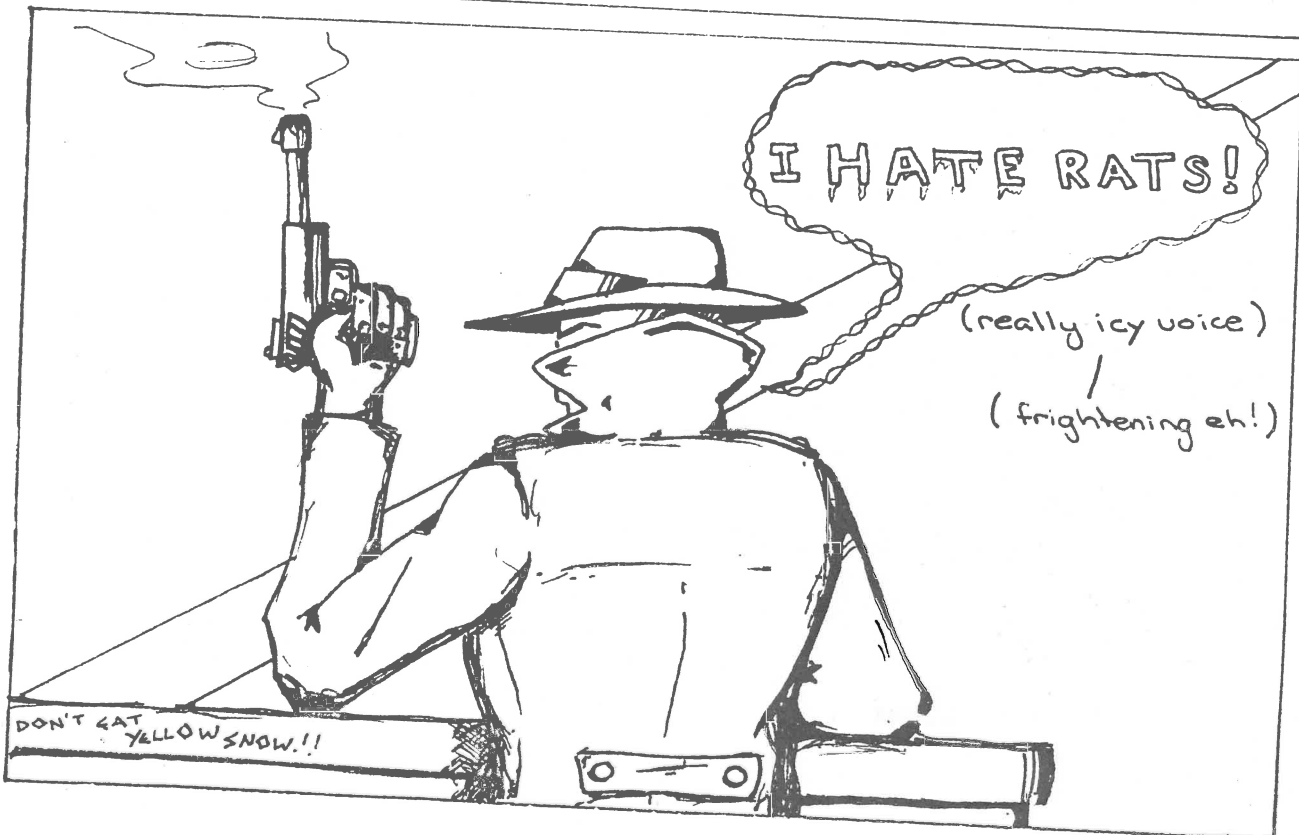

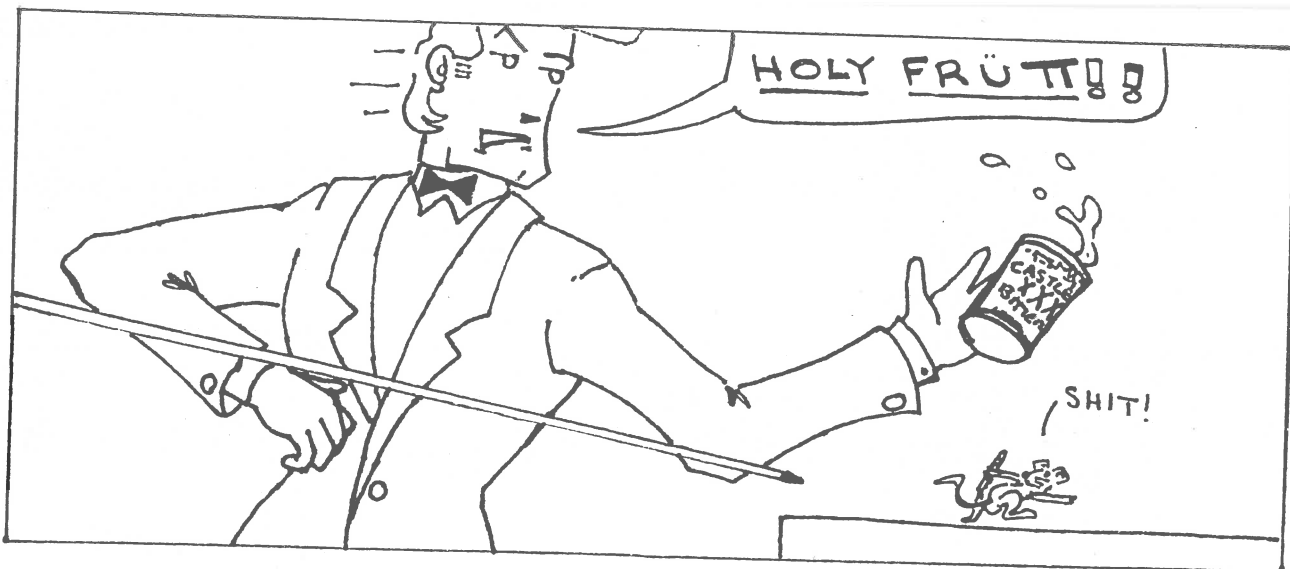

PART. 4.

LAST EPISODE LEFT OUR HERO IN A POTENTIALLY LIFE THREATENING SITUATION...
